

General Description

Provide a brief and clear general description of your restaurant: the date of establishment, the ownership, location, size, cuisine, market position and the main sales trends during prior periods. If your restaurant is a new venture, the marketing plan should focus on the market potential of your business.