Main Window:

The main window consists of a view to display objects and a browser to organize parts in directory groups.

The browser section displays the name of all the parts in the current directory and is used to select parts for inspection.   In order to create a higher level directory, select a part or parts and then select GROUP from EDIT.   This will create a new directory containing the part or parts grouped. Groups may be grouped as well.   If you copy a part, and paste it, it will be pasted into the lowest level directory that is open.
