Dear Creative Professional,

It seems that every manufacturer of high-quality printers, copiers, monitors, and image manipulation or page layout software has the same problem - it's difficult to find images good enough to show off the quality of your product. We can help.

Digital Stock publishes royalty-free stock imagery of the very highest quality on CD ROM and online. Our images are chosen from the best work of some of the world's finest photographers. The original transparencies are drum scanned on a Heidelberg (Lino-Hell) Tango and meticulously color corrected, then stored in file sizes up to 32 MB. We think you will agree that the results are outstanding.

We are pleased to provide you with this demonstration disc containing twenty five high-resolution stock photographs from our Master Collection. These images are yours to use at any live demonstration of your hardware or software. You may use them for display, and you may make as many prints as you wish, as long as they are free handouts. Since we are providing these images to you at no cost, please do not make digital copies of them (other than onto a hard drive used at the demonstration).

We also ask that you do not crop or delete the Digital Stock info at the bottom of the image. Your customers are as hungry for quality images as you are. They'll appreciate learning from you where they can find the images they need.

If you would like to use these or other images for other purposes, give us a call and we will try to accommodate you. If you need additional copies of the disc or handout materials, please contact our marketing department at 760.634.6500.

Best Regards,
