

Microsoft SideWinder Force Feedback Pro

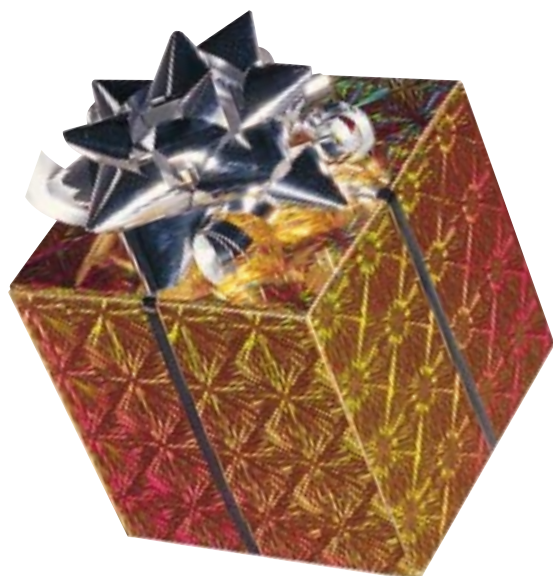

Few joysticks cost £130, but then there are not that many joysticks that are as desirable as Microsoft's SideWinder Force Feedback Pro. Far from being just another passive game-control device the Force Feedback Pro fights back, jolting and juddering in time with on-screen actions.

- £129 (inc VAT)
- Microsoft: 0345 002000
www.microsoft.com

STOCKING FILLERS

If you're stuck for a Christmas present, take a look at our suggestions, which range from a 3D graphics card to a digital camera, and there's a chance to win some of the goodies

Fujifilm DX-7 digital camera

At first glance, the DX-7 looks just like a smart silver point-and-shoot camera. Turn it round though and you'll see the LCD screen that lets you compose and edit your pictures - it stores up to 30 shots on a 2Mb SmartMedia memory card.

Amazingly, we're also giving one of these away. The reader to send the most entertaining Christmas photograph will receive this fantastic prize.

- £399.99 (inc VAT)
- Fuji: 0171 586 5900
www.fujifilm.co.uk/di

The Star Trek Encyclopedia

Just the thing for the Trekker in the family (yes, we all have one), the updated Star Trek Encyclopedia from Simon & Schuster contains everything you ever wanted to know about the 30-year-old sci-fi series. This four-disc set boasts facts, figures, video and sound clips from The Original Series, The Next Generation, Deep Space Nine, Voyager, and all eight feature films.

Thanks to the folks at Simon & Schuster, we've got five copies to give away. The first five readers to send us a postcard with the name of the first Captain of the Starship Enterprise can have a copy absolutely free.

- £39.95 (inc VAT)
- ZBLAC Entertainment: 01626 332233

Kingston Datapak 520

Small is beautiful, the saying goes, and it's certainly true in the case of the Datapak 520. Incredibly, this tiny PC Card device is a hard disk drive capable of holding 500Mb of data. No storage-space-starved notebook owner should be without it.

Just to prove we're not as tight as your hard disk space, we've got a Datapak to give away to the sender of the first postcard out of the hat.

- £450 (inc VAT)
 - Kingston Technology: 01932 738888
- www.kingston.com

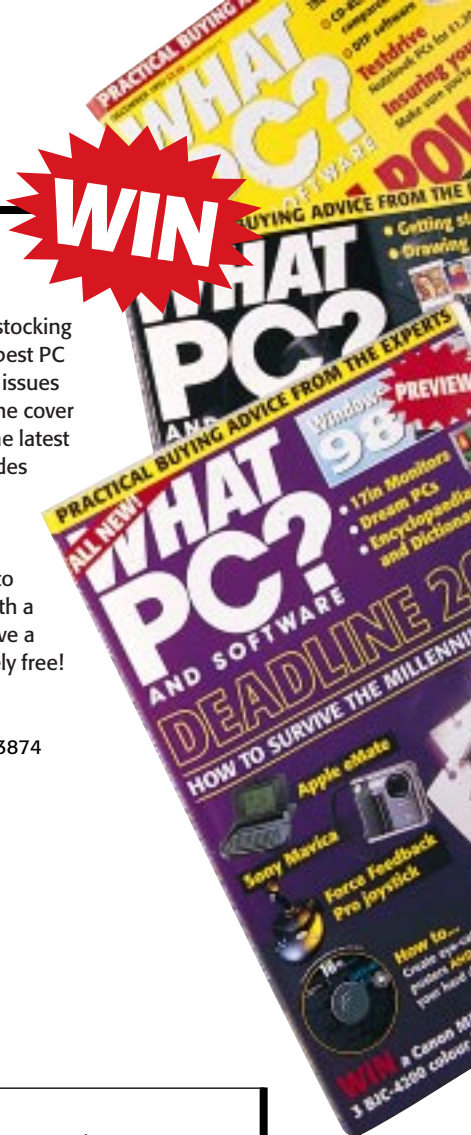

What PC?

What better for your Christmas stocking than a subscription to the UK's best PC magazine? At just £18.90 for 12 issues you'll save over 45 percent on the cover price, and get a whole year of the latest news, reviews, step-by-step guides and practical buying advice from the experts. A bargain.

Oh, go on then. Seeing as it's Christmas, the first five readers to send us in a picture postcard with a good festive joke on it will receive a six month subscription absolutely free!

- 6 issues £11.50
- 12 issues £18.90

Subscription hotline: 01483 733874
www.whatpc.co.uk

Diamond Monster 3D

Many of today's top games won't run at their best without a 3D graphics accelerator. Based on the excellent Voodoo graphics chip from 3DFX, the Diamond Monster 3D offers everything you need for high performance entertainment. It works in conjunction with your existing 2D display card, and is rapidly gaining support from the top software developers. Top stocking stuff.

Just to put the icing on the Christmas pud, we've got one to give away. The reader to send us the best drawing of Santa Claus will be the winner.

- £148.05 (inc VAT)
- Diamond: 01189 444400

