

Demonstration of a smart folder: This script watches its parent folder, and beeps once whenever items are added to or removed from it. (It checks every three seconds; you can edit the script modify this time.) You can of course change the beep into some more useful action...