

SPECIES ACCOUNTS: Terms & Abbreviations

Status Terms

Resident: a species that is present year-round or one that resides in the state during summer or winter. The Northern Cardinal is a permanent resident, the Yellow Warbler is a summer resident, and the American Tree Sparrow is a winter resident.

Migrant: birds that regularly pass through Indiana enroute to or from breeding grounds. The Blackpoll Warbler provides a fine example.

Visitor: a bird that does not appear in the state annually, but occurs somewhat regularly, i.e., species such as the Varied Thrush.

Vagrant: a species that is not normally expected in Indiana, e.g., Wilson's Plover.

Extirpated: a species that was formerly present, but no longer occurs in the state, though populations remain elsewhere in North America. The Greater Prairie-Chicken provides an example. This term is applied to breeding birds.

Extinct: a species that no longer exists.
