Inspector;¬I forgot my password!

BackSpace will accept the BackSpace password, the user's account password, and the root password.   You can thus use any of these passwords either to get past BackSpace's screen locker or under the Info->Set Password... menu item to select a new password.

Inspector;¬I only get 3 modules!

Three screen saver modules are built into BackSpace, but many more can be dynamically loaded if they are located in the right place.   x   If modules

Modules don't load!

If modules are present in the browser but fail to load, they may have been compiled for a different machine architecture.   For example, modules compiled for a Motorola architecture will not load on an Intel machine, but they will be displayed in the module browser.