When you click this command, the document will be saved under its current name.

If the document isn't named yet   (the title bar of the document will show, ªUntitled ± NUMBERº), a file selection panel will appear.
Here you can select a directory and enter a name for the document.

A document's name can be as long as you like, and it can contain both spaces and hyphens. The suffix characterizing OneVision documents (ª1VDocº) will be added automatically.

For different options on how to save documents, e.g., backup or previews, see the chapter <Document Preferences> (;../Info/Preferences.rtfd;Dokument;¬).
