PDFView lets you view and print PDF documents. Furthermore PDFView implements most of the hypertext functions defined for the PDF format.

The only slightly hidden function is the zoom cursor. You can zoom a rectangle by holding down the alternate key (this is used to be right Alt on PC keyboards) down. You can abort this function by pressing the right mouse button. In the preferences you may replace alternate by control, which uses to be the Ctrl key.

PDFView works cool with Librarian. Hint: Use <Build index> in Librarian to seed up search.

Much pleasure
