

NetShade 1.2

Thank you for downloading NetShade! To install the program, drag the NetShade application from this disk image into your Applications folder. When you run NetShade for the first time, you will be asked to give your password. This is a one-time procedure which allows NetShade to grant itself the permissions necessary to update your network settings. NetShade is not installing any files in your system or modifying your system files in any way.

I hope you find NetShade to be useful. If you like it, please consider registering at:
