Description
===========

BootProtect actually is two programs in one! It reminds you of disks left in your diskdrives(Of course you can select the diskdrives to be checked) and it protects your computer against bootviruses. Bootviruses are viruses that infect your computer if you restart your computer with a disk that is infected in your A-drive. BootProtect ensures that you don't restart your computer with a disk in your A-Drive!
Get rid of forgetting floppydisks or Cd-roms in the computer and get rid of bootviruses!
USE BOOTPROTECT!

Requirements
============

Installation
============

Run Setup.exe and go through the steps. After that restart your computer. Then you see a little eye in the traybar (On this picture it's all the way right):

Double click on the eye and choose Help, Topics for more information.

Uninstalling BootProtect
You can uninstall BootProtect in two ways:
- Go to the control panel by clicking the START-Button of the Windows 95 taskbar and choosing Settings, Control panel. Then double click on the Add-Remove programs icon and BootProtect should be listed there. Select it and click the Add/Remove program button.
- But the easiest way to untinstall BootProtect is by clicking the START-Button of the Windows 95 taskbar, selecting Programs and Going to the BootProtect 1.2 folder. Then you can choose Remove BootProtect.

IMPORTANT: BEFORE YOU UNINSTALL BOOTPROTECT YOU MUST EXIT BOOTPROTECT!
