

In 1969 human beings landed on the moon for the first time. The United States launched Apollo 11 towards the moon on July 16. On July 20, astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr. walked on the moon's surface. As Armstrong took his first step, he radioed a message to the world: "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind."