

ILLUMINATUS V3.00 - New Version

Digital Workshop are pleased to announce the availability of a new version of their multimedia publisher Illuminatus. Greatly improved and enhanced yet still just as easy to use.

Multimedia publishing and authoring is now really firing the imagination and people look to do something constructive with their multimedia PCs, as CDRecorders drop to within almost anyone's pocket and as the online community grows still further.

Now Illuminatus v3.00 brings even more multimedia power for ordinary people.

Building on the success and knowledge gained from earlier versions we have extended Illuminatus to provide everything the general user needs to create stunning interactive multimedia in moments. Not only is the new version faster and more stable we've taken the time to add everything we think makes multimedia possible for anyone and everyone. In particular there are special features including...

...simple solutions to tricky development problems, such as OmniPalette which banishes palette clash,

...extensive but simple control over the setup program for distributed publications

...and super-fast loading so the reader isn't left waiting for something to happen.

Now Anyone Can Make Multimedia

So now interactive multimedia will be readily available...

...to small and medium size businesses, and even SOHO users, who do not have a specialist staff available for multimedia programming using traditional tools.

...to parents, teachers and pupils. Illuminatus has already been adopted by the National Council for Education Technology and is used in many schools colleges and universities.

...to trainers and software developers at all levels for simple CBT at a fraction of the cost of other packages.

...to artists and creative writers for a whole new creative medium.

...to individual users for digital newsletters, multimedia scrapbooks and greetings, even CVs and business cards.
