

Hasla (Passwords) 1.13 [15.08.2006 13:16:19]

WWW: <http://www.blitz-art.com>
E-Mail: team@blitz-art.com

PROGRAM LICENSE

The license agreement below is the same for all our software, including this one!

- Our software is freeware
- Our software is distributed "as is"
- The authors do not give any guarantee for excellent operation of the program in every case and situation
- The programs may have bugs so you are using them only at your own responsibility
- The authors take no responsibility for wrong operation and all eventual damage caused by the software
- Our software is free both for private (in house) and for commercial purposes (in the company)
- The user does not bear any expenses for using the software
- The user, if he wants to, can place the software on his website (server). In this case it is prohibited to change the content of the program installation package. Additionally he is obliged to put the link to the author's website (BLITZ-ART programming group), where always the most up to date versions of the software are available. The address of this website is: www.blitz-art.com
- The user cannot charge a fee for distributing this software (unless the fee is for the floppy, compact disc or whatever media the software is stored on)
- It is prohibited to process or change the source code of this software. It is an act of violation of copyright laws. Decompilation and deassembleration of this software is forbidden
- This program can be distributed on CDs and DVDs added to computer magazines and placed for downloading in software websites, but the information about the author and the website address of the program has to be included as well