1 license agreement

please read the license agreement in the separate license.txt and MPL-1.1.html files in the program folder. by using this program you agree to license terms stated therein.

the karsten source code is open source and can be downloaded from the project web site at <http://karsten.sourceforge.net>. it is essentially provided AS IS without warranty and support of any kind.

2 installation and uninstallation

2.1 system requirements hardware: PC (pentium II 300 MHz) with at least 128 MB RAM, SVGA graphics board with at least 65000 colors, 5MB free hard-disk space operating system: microsoft windows 2000, XP with latest service packs

2.2 installation

the installer (karsten-setup.exe) copies the karsten program files to a program folder of your choice. it can also update a previous installation.

some program libraries that are shared with other programs are copied to the system folder. these files are:

rtl100bpl, vcl100.bpl, vclx100.bpl, vcljpg100.bpl, lpng.dll

2.3 uninstallation

use the "add/remove" programs control applet to uninstall karsten.

3 about documentation

karsten slide show has been translated to english only recently. while the program is now available in english, the online help is still german only. furthermore, that help file covers version 3.0.0 of the program. in the meantime many new features have been added but the help file hasn't been updated. karsten should be pretty easy to use, though. for a list of the main features please refer to the project web site at <http://karsten.sourceforge.net>.

4 known problems

the english translation has not been checked for consistency. some elements may use different terms for the same concept.

further known problems are listed and discussed on the project web site at <http://karsten.sourceforge.net>. please use the bug tracker and the discussion forums at that web site to report potential problems. the author does not guarantee any support.
