Apple's Cyrillic Language Kit makes it easy to create documents in any Cyrillic-based language.

This affordable, easy-to-install kit lets you switch effortlessly between the computer's main language and Bulgarian, Russian, or Ukrainian. You can also work in Belorussian, Macedonian, Serbian, or any other language based on the Cyrillic writing system. Cyrillic text can be mixed with other languages that your computer supports—including right-to-left and Asian languages—in the same document. The kit comes with a selection of keyboard layouts optimized for both native speakers and students, accompanied by transparent labels for customizing your keyboard.

The Cyrillic Language Kit works with almost any Mac OS–compatible application, including those that have been localized for Bulgarian, Russian, or Ukrainian. Because the kit builds on the inherent multilingual capabilities of the Mac OS, text created in one application can be copied and pasted or dragged and dropped into another application. With the kit, you can work with documents created by colleagues in Eastern Europe who use the Bulgarian, Russian, or Ukrainian version of the Mac OS. You can also display Cyrillic-based World Wide Web servers.

The Cyrillic Language Kit includes a selection of Apple TrueType fonts, which ensure high-quality on-screen and printed characters at any size and feature exciting new QuickDraw GX typographic capabilities. The fonts provided in TrueType format are also supplied in PostScript versions.

This product is part of a family of Apple language solutions, which offer an affordable way to internationalize your Macintosh system. You can install as many different Apple Language Kits as you need on a single computer. Apple also offers the Arabic Language Kit, the Chinese Language Kit, the Chinese Dictation Kit, the Hebrew Language Kit, the Japanese Language Kit, and others.
