

List of Internet Service Providers

This list contains information on preconfigured Internet Service Providers. This is only a partial list of all available Internet Service Providers. Your software is designed to work with any Internet Service Provider offering a SLIP, CSLIP, PPP or ISDN connection. Setup is easier if you use one of the preconfigured Internet Service Providers.

To obtain a listing of the preconfigured Internet Service Providers in your area, click your location on the map.

To obtain a listing of the preconfigured Internet Service Providers in a specific area code, please go to the grid.

The following are some things to consider when shopping for an Internet Service Provider:

1. Services offered

What range of services is available? Is the provider offering only E-mail or are other Internet tools such as Gopher, WAIS (Wide Area Information Service), and WWW (World Wide Web) also available? What kind of E-mail protocols are offered (SMTP, POP2, POP3; is MIME support offered)? Does the provider offer technical support?

2. Cost of Services

What will be the cost to you for the service? Rate "structures" vary considerable from provider to provider. For example:

- a. Sign-up fee - Y/N?
- b. Basic monthly charge - Y/N?
- c. Connect time charge - Y/N?
- d. "Flat fee" - Y/N?
- e. Connect time restrictions - Y/N?
- f. Incentives to dial up at off-peak times - Y/N?
- g. If technical support is offered, is there a charge for this? - Y/N?
- h. Various combinations of the above

Since you will be accessing the Internet Service Provider's machine over the telephone lines, physical distance from your site is an issue, for obvious reasons. If the Internet Service Provider is outside of your area, does it offer a local telephone line?

3. Hardware Requirements

What is the minimum (if any) modem speed permitted? What is the maximum supported? Does the Internet Service Provider allocate you temporary disk space on its server? If so, how much space is allocated?

Internet Service providers are multiplying rapidly, so check your telephone book, trade journals, etc. for service provider advertising.

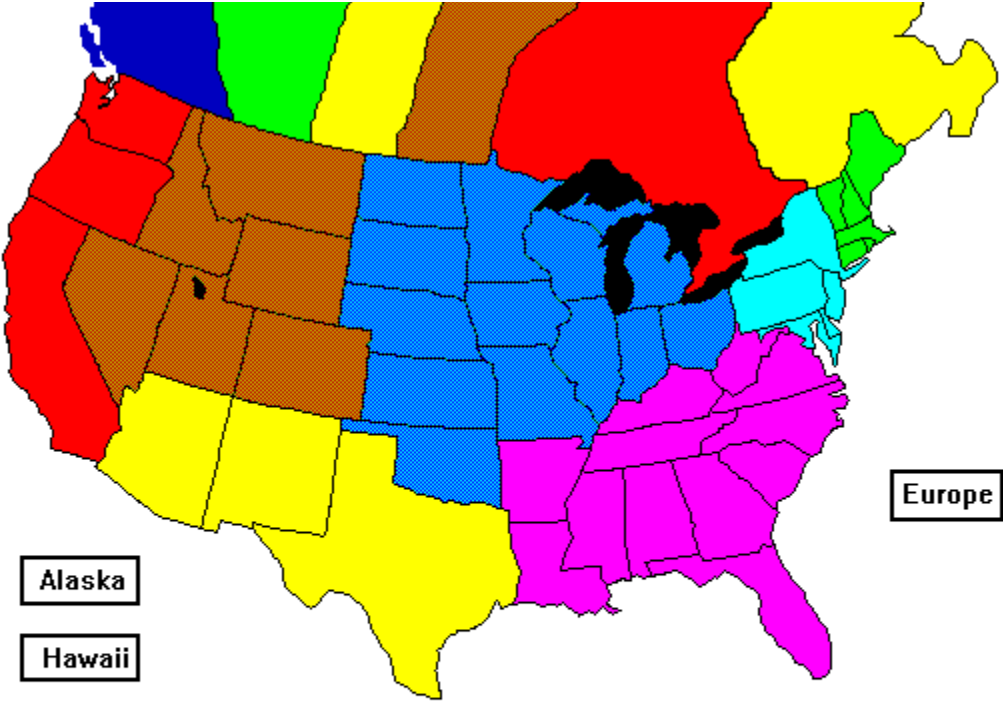

Area Code Grid

If you do not see your area code in the grid below, we have no preconfigured Internet Service Providers for your area. To find a local Internet Service Provider, some sources include the local paper, phone book, TV news, radio and bill board advertisements.
