Section 1

Those who work for peace have got to support one another. We know that when leaders stand up for peace, they place their fortunes on the line and sometimes their very lives on the line, as we learned so recently in the tragic murder of the brave Prime Minister of Israel. For just as peace has its pioneers, peace will always have its rivals. Even when children stand up and say what these children said today, there will always be people who deep down inside will never be able to give up the past.

Mini-Dialogue Strategies

1. Be careful of vocabulary. Words with more than one meaning will be tested in Section One of the TOEFL. Listen for idioms. See checkpoints L1 through L3 for practice.
2. Be careful of sounds. Look for sound-alikes in answer choices. Do not be tricked by words and expressions that sound alike but which have different meanings.
3. Listen carefully to the spoken sentence. Listen for words with many meanings in spoken sentences. Listen for strong emotions in spoken questions.
4. Be careful of tricky spoken structures such as contractions, negatives, causative verbs, conditions, tag questions, modals, passives, and relationship signals. See L7 through L10 for practice.
5. Listen carefully to the second speaker. The second speaker always gives important information. The
