MacHealth

First off, don't go calling all your friends and telling them you have this program. I wrote this program in about 3 hrs. for as a promotion for a local computer dealer. I was in a hurry and wanted to go to bed.

This version just checks your computer chips (CPU, SCSI, ect.) for flaws. It does not touch your files or even you disk. It just checks the chips.   In the next version it will keep a log of what it found, or what it didn't find, It will also check your system files and directory.

What the heck?

OK, If you can't figure out how to use this program you shouldn't have a Mac. Or any other computer.

Look in the folder that holds MacHealth. Do you see that ICON that looks like a hand drawing something on a dimond? Double-Click that ICON.

Thats it!   MacHealth does the rest!

Oh yea! If you happen to come accross some text looking like " ~~~~ " or " ????" it means I was to tired to think how to program for that.

Boring stuff...

MacHealth is © 1994 So. Tahoe User Group. That means don't modify or sell it!   MacHealth is " Let me know what you think so I can improve" ware. Or freeware for short.

If you find any bugs mail me or send me eMail. If you send mail/eMail and tell me what you think you will get free updates and all that other stuff.

Info:

eMail: kevina@sierra.net
Mail: Kevin Avila
             Box 612053
             So. Lake Tahoe, CA. 96152

If your ever in Lake Tahoe come by and see me, Michael, Pierson, Larry, ect. at Computer Base. I wonder if Meline will let me have this last line? Anyway were in the Round Hill Mall somewhere. (702) 588-5566. Remember to send me mail because not only does technology move fast but people can move too!