Printing Help

To save paper, you can print both the front and back label on a single page by checking the "Print Both Labels to Single Page" check box in the print preview. When this option is selected, the crop marks that normally appear around the printed label will not be printed.

To make a label that easily fits into the case, try using paper that is firmer than standard copy paper. I recommend Hammermill LaserPrint as an inexpensive alternative to some of the higher priced ink-jet and laser printer papers on the market today.

If you experience problems while printing labels, make sure that you are using the latest version of your printer driver. If these problems persist, please send a description of your problem to: jpinsker@aspenmall.com
