

You should set your policies towards other countries based on three geopolitical factors.

First, use the trade information icon on the Diplomacy screen to determine which other countries produce the most valuable resources.

Second, view the world map on the Diplomacy screen to determine which countries' geographic location should factor into your strategy.

Third, use the relationships icon on the Diplomacy screen to learn how other countries feel about each other. You should set similar policies towards countries that like each other.