

Use the Transport Ledger to determine which resources will be transported from the countryside to the industry of your nation.

To increase the number and quantity of items shown on this screen, use your Engineer to build more railroads, depots and ports and other civilian units to increase the output of the terrain tiles.

It can be a good idea to build your new depots or ports near the towns in each of your provinces. These towns can develop industrial output of their own once connected to the transport network.