

Timber is the most important industrial resource early in the game, so you should look for a site near to scrub or hardwood forest.

If the city site cannot be adjacent to forests, you should make sure that your country contains some forest within a few tiles of your city site.

Other resources such as cotton or wool are not as critical to your early development as timber.