

Warnings !

Handle floppy disks with care - do not expose them to heat, dust, humidity or magnetic fields. Always make a backup copy of your important files, and never use the original program disks - use backup copies only. If anything goes wrong with a disk, you can always make a new copy from the original.

NEVER point the camera directly into the sun or a very bright artificial light! This may burn out the CCD chip in the camera.

If you use a tape recorder or amplifier to record sound into ANIMAC, be very careful not to input too high a voltage! Use only a "line level" signal from your tape recorder or amplifier.

NEVER attach a speaker output to the Mac's microphone input! The supplied sound attenuator cable is intended ONLY to adapt a "line level" signal (less than 1 volt) to the Mac's microphone input. Failure to heed this warning may cause permanent damage to your Macintosh.

If you are not familiar with audio equipment, or unsure about your sound level, consult your audio equipment's user manual, or an audio dealer or a service technician for help.

Always remember to switch off the power from all equipment before you plug or unplug any cables! Failure to do this may damage your equipment.

HARDWARE WARRANTY & DISCLAIMER:

The ANIMAC hardware is warranted against defects for six (6) months. The magnetic media on which the software is delivered is warranted to be free from defects, and will be replaced if found defective within ninety (90) days from purchase. This warranty applies only to the original purchaser of ANIMAC. The warranty excludes any damages due to improper handling or accidental breakage. Freight charges are not included in the warranty. Any hardware service or warranty request should be made to the supplier of ANIMAC, rather than directly to the manufacturer of the hardware. No responsibility whatsoever is taken for any direct or consequential damage arising from the use of, or inability to use this hardware.

SOFTWARE DISCLAIMER:

The ANIMAC software is delivered as-is, with no warranty whatsoever. Since software is inherently complex and may not be completely error-free, no responsibility is taken for any costs including (but not limited to) those incurred as a result of lost profits or revenue, loss of use of this or other software, loss of data, cost of recovering software or data, cost of substitute software, any other consequential damages, or claims by third parties. For this reason, it is important that you always back up any important data. No warranty is given or implied regarding the ANIMAC software's quality, performance, fitness for any particular purpose, merchantability, except that it will substantially perform as set forth in this manual. Present or future compatibility with any other software, including any "System software" cannot be guaranteed.

Any trademarks mentioned in this manual are owned by their respective companies.