

new challenge

Right, for those of you out there that just can't hold it any more here's how you can write for 1984 online.

1984 if you have not noticed is a mixed bag of Mac dedicated folk from all sorts of careers and general interests in the Mac community.

Content and style

Writing for us is easy, all you have to do is tell us about your Mac orientated experiences. Although we have our regular in-house columnist's we'll always have room for more!, our site expansion is on going throughout 1999.

Guest writers are always most welcome, to keep our variety alive and kicking.

Your work can cover any subject you so choose related to the Apple Macintosh and it's competitors. Reviews on software, hardware and books are most welcome.

Each article has it's own merits, so from reading this months issue you'll get a feel for the different subject matter we cover. A good comparison would be the equivalent of about 4 pages of A4 text maximum [although longer at a push].

Our readership

1984 readers are also as mixed as our writers. From the first time user to experienced Mac folk, they will all browse our work from time to time.

Always take to mind that not everyone will understand certain terminology so try to explain where ever possible a complicated topic.

So there you go, simple guidelines.

If you wish to contact me further then please do, and I look forward to welcoming you on board.

 Darren Edwards

Editor 1984 online

<darren@1984-online.com>

