

question of censorship

Communications Decency Amendment of the 1996 Telecommunication Act, how does it effect you online? Don't know, then go to:

<http://www.eff.org/blueribbon.html>

With the freedom of the Internet being questioned more and more by politicians & censorship authorities you'll need to take a look this site.

There is a great links section to an endless wash of information to open your eyes. Find the answers to the questions of what you can and can't do, plus many of your queries answered about Internet governing policies different countries are trying to impose.

If the above was not to your liking take a look at these UK bound sites covering censorship issues:

<http://dis.strath.ac.uk/people/paul/Control.html>

This site is quickly snowballing in to a large information hive of issues on the wider implications of running a site legally and the issues facing the growing Internet community.

<http://www.cyberlawcentre.org.uk>

Extensive listing of great legal links on the Internet and more, see for yourself.

Darren