

Books Online Direct to Your Door - by Darren Edwards

Books glorious books

There are many things you can buy online. Armed with a credit card you can find some great bargains, none more so that with information packed books.

It's true to say there are massive amounts of information on the Internet. But there's nothing quite like sitting down in front of the two bar electric fire on these cold dark winter evenings, expanding your mind with a good book or two, as opposed to going half blind staring at the monitor. So where do you go to buy such books...online of course!

Amazon.com or Amazon.co.uk

<http://www.amazon.com> or <http://www.amazon.co.uk>

The biggest and best there is in Cyberland. If you can't find what your looking for here I'll eat my mouse mat. A fast search facility and simple site layout. very recommended

The peach pit/Addison & Wesley

<http://www.peachpit.com> & <http://www.awl-he.com>

Good selection of books at both sites. A good place to go for Mac books. I have bought about 25 books from Addison & Wesley and they come highly recommended by myself as being fast and reliable in the UK. Both sites have a search facility, if you're a teacher of sorts you can get a quite respectable discount if you ask nicely.

Book Express online

<http://www.bookexpress.com>

A discount online bookstore offering savings of up to 90% off in certain listed books. A wide variety of subjects are kept up to date and a fairly good looking site. They also have a good section on limited and hard to find books.

Future Books

<http://www.futurebooks.com>

Not just an online bookstore but I found all sorts of related information from publishing your own book to marketing. You should take a look at this site if only to learn more about the process of publishing your own works in paper back.

McGraw-Hill Bookstore

<http://www.bookstore.mcgraw-hill.com>

Stumbled across this site at 4am in the morning. I was impressed at the amount of technical and business related books in their database.

Blackwell's online bookshop

<http://www.blackwell.co.uk>

ne for the UK. Simple enough site with a good academic book listing. Mail order is easy and fast.

Dorling Kindersley

<http://www.dorlingkindersley.co.uk>

The best place to source down interactive media and books for your children. Hey, after all, the Internet's for kids too!

The not so ran's:

Wordsworth Books

<http://www.wordsworth.com>

Alphabetstreet

<http://www.alphabetstreet.co.uk>

Booksite

<http://www.booksite.com>
