The document's page width is greater than the custom paper width setting (from Page Setup) which means "clipping" of the printed page will occur.