Some colors appear to be defined other than the CMYK model or a PANTONE® Color. It is generally considered best to avoid other color models, such as RGB or any other model for which there is no ink equivalent.