

Some images contain custom non-Linear Transfer Functions which will cause the pixel data to be altered during printing.