

The image is rotated. This can add to processing time as well as alter the quality of the image.