

"Compatible Gradient printing" was selected for the document inside the application's Document Setup. This option should only be used when you're having trouble printing gradients to a Level I printer.