

The image contains a custom non-Linear Transfer Function which will cause the pixel data to be altered during printing.