

Remove the Color

Unused Spot Colors

It is sometimes very important to know if the document references any colors which are unused. Otherwise, you could end up over-estimating the cost or predicted processing time of printing the job, or worse than that, printing extra unwanted plates. In this case, one should return the document back to the application and remove all unused colors, specifically those marked as separation colors.