

There is one known bug in this version of Icon Machine: sometimes when you make a selection, the contents of the selection come out garbled. It happens very infrequently, and I can't figure out what causes it. If it happens to you, just Undo and try it again.

If you can figure out how to make this bug happen dependably, please e-mail me at dathorc@kagi.com. Thank you.

Sorry to give you software with a known bug in it, but it's not fatal since you can recover from it with a simple Undo. A lot of other bugs have been fixed in this release, and I wanted to get started on 32-bit editing. Thank you for your patience.