Travis Anton - Master of the pet project

Research, Core Algorithms, Product Design, and all slave driving. Let's not get into what he's got hidden under his bed, though. Some things are better left to the imagination.

Kevin Etheridge - Windows Implementation

All that Windows stuff Travis didn't know how or want to do.

And special thanks to Ed Sultan at invisible, ink for the cool new look and Daniel Thomas at MWB Interactive for all the BoxTop Tool animations, you can't buy those babies in hardware stores.

For the record, yes, we really meant to spell it with a 'c', and no we don't think it has anything to do with drugs and prostitutes, although there could be some political scandal with the Vice President implicated. Maybe he picked up a prostitute while under the influence of drugs? Maybe it does have something to do with drugs and prostitutes after all...