

Vicomsoft Internet Gateway Version 6.0 Installation

The Vicomsoft Internet Gateway is installed as a fat binary version of the product which includes native code for both 68K Mac's and PowerPC's.

To run the Gateway, you MUST have Open Transport installed, which is available from Apple's web site (<http://www.apple.com>).

The standard installation installs both the Vicomsoft Internet Gateway and the WebCache Server Module. If you wish to install one of these applications, select the "Show Other Installations" button at the top left of the installer screen and select the application you wish to install.
