ittery TV

When applied to a video clip, this effect makes it look as if it were being displayed on an old television. It makes the image noisy and shaky, and causes a rolling bright line to move through the image.

Settings

he "Source Integrity" setting varies the maximum amount that source image lines will be offset in the destination image, and the amount of noise applied to each pixel.