

Select a topic on the left side of this window to see the corresponding help text on the right side of the window.

The up and down arrow keys may be used to scroll the text or move the help topic selection, depending on which "pane" is active. The active pane is outlined by a black rectangle. Use the left and right arrow keys, tab key, or click a pane to select it.

Press command-c or click the clipboard icon in the upper right of this window to copy the currently displayed scrollable text to the clipboard.

Click the document icon in the upper right of this window to save the currently displayed scrollable text to a TEXT file. Formatting is also saved in the TEXT file so that applications such as Apple's SimpleText can display it properly. Hold down the option key when clicking the document icon to change the file creator used when saving help TEXT files.

Additional help is available for users of System 7 and later through Balloon Help. Most A/S menus, windows, and controls have balloons.
