- A REGISTERED COPY OF DOCMaker IS LICENSED FOR USE BY ONE INDIVIDUAL; FOR INSTALLATION AND EXECUTION ON ONE CPU.
- A LOCAL SITE LICENSE OF DOCMaker LICENSES AN ORGANIZATION FOR USE BY ALL INDIVIDUALS WHO WORK DIRECTLY FOR, OR ARE MEMBERS OF, THE REGISTERED ORGANIZATION, FOR THE BUSINESS PURPOSES OF THE REGISTERED ORGANIZATION, IN A LOCAL METROPOLITAN AREA. THE SITE LICENCE ENTITLES THE REGISTERED ORGANIZATION TO ADDITIONAL SERVICES AND PRODUCTS (DESCRIBED BELOW). THE ACQUISITION OF A SITE LICENSE AUTOMATICALLY SATISFIES THE ADDITIONAL COMMERCIAL USE FEE REQUIREMENT (DESCRIBED BELOW).
- A WORLD-WIDE SITE LICENSE OF DOCMaker LICENSES AN ORGANIZATION FOR USE BY ALL INDIVIDUALS WHO WORK DIRECTLY FOR, OR ARE MEMBERS OF, THE REGISTERED ORGANIZATION, FOR THE BUSINESS PURPOSES OF THE REGISTERED ORGANIZATION, AT ANY LOCATION IN THE WORLD. ## OCMaker Registration Questions and Answers

Q: "I am a shareware author that currently is registered for two copies of DOCMaker. How do I upgrade?"

A: If you wish to receive disks by mail, send $5.00 for handling the upgrade. OR you may request the upgrade to be emailed to you.

: "I was a shareware author that previously registered for DOCMaker but I have since become a commercial software company. How do I upgrade?"

A: To upgrade to DOCMaker v4.7 you will be required to pay the commercial use fee. The commercial use fee for current users is a one-time payment of $125. The upgrades to v4.7 of your existing installs is free, and if you need additional installs you will need to send $35 for each additional install required.

: "We are a Macintosh user group that wishes to distribute our newsletter on disks at our meetings and on our local BBS. Our librarian will be the only person using DOCMaker for creating the newsletter. We are not currently registered, so what do we do?"

A: You should register for one copy of DOCMaker for $25. No additional fees are required.

: "We are a commercial company that would like to distribute our company newsletter on our internal email network to our employees. Two employees will be using DOCMaker to create and distribute the newsletter. How much is registration and licensing?"

A: You will be required to obtain two installations of DOCMaker and to pay the one-time commercial use fee. The new user commercial use fee is $225 which includes the fee for your first installation of DOCMaker and the second install of DOCMaker is $35, so your total fee requirement is $260.

: “We are a commercial company that would like to distribute manuals for five of our products in DOCMaker format. We will need 50 copies of DOCMaker to create and distribute the manuals in English, Spanish, and French. DOCMaker will be used by the 50 employees in two of our offices located in Boston, MA. How much is registration and licensing?”

A: You will need to obtain a local site license for DOCMaker. The local site license will provide you with licensing for commercial use, unlimited installation on your computers in your offices in the Boston area, and the language modules you need all for $450.

: “I am a freelance graphic designer who would like to use DOCMaker to distribute examples of my work to potential customers. How do I register?”

A: You will be required to obtain a single install of DOCMaker and to pay the one-time commercial use fee. The new user commercial use fee is $225 which includes the fee for your first installation of DOCMaker, so your total fee requirement is $225.

: “I am currently registered for DOCMaker and I have version 3.96. I am a commercial user but I do not want to upgrade to version 4.7 right now. Is there a solution for me?”

A: Yes, you may upgrade to version 4.1.1 at any time for no cost. You may use version 4.1.1 under the agreement stated in the v4.1.1 users manual. There will be no commercial use fee required unless you decide to upgrade to version 4.7 or later.

: “We are a commercial company that wishes to license 2 copies of DOCMaker. Do we need to report the number of documents we will be distributing and the products that these documents support? Will we also have to pay an additional use fee when DOCMaker is upgraded in the future?”

A: After registering for the two copies of DOCMaker and paying the commercial use fee, you will not have to report any information on the use and distribution of the documents that you create. When additional releases of DOCMaker come out, the upgrades will be free (handling charges will apply), and no additional use fees will be required.

: “Is version 4.1.1 still available for registration?”

A: Yes, you may register for v4.1.1 for $25 per copy ($30 out of USA). It will be available for some time after version 4.7 is released, but will eventually be phased out.

: “I produce an electronic magazine for profit, which may actually increase the awareness of DOCMaker and subsequently the sales of DOCMaker. Do you consider special cases?”

A: Yes, absolutely. Please contact Green Mountain Software to discuss your use of DOCMaker.

: “I would like to produce an electronic periodical using DOCMaker. I’m not sure that anyone would pay for it, but I’d like to give it a try. How do I register?”

A: You should register as a shareware author. You must, though, distribute your manual as shareware so that people will have access to the journal and may pay you for it if they wish to continue to download it or continue to use it. The registration fee under this plan would be $25. Note that a 'lite' version of your document which is distributed for gaining subscriptions to a more robust fee-required version is constituted as commercial use.

: "Do you offer multiple copy discounts for educational institutions?"

A: Yes, please see the schedule on the order form.

: "I am a shareware author in Germany who would like to create documents to support my software in both Germany and Sweden. How do register?"

A: You will need to register one copy of DOCMaker and two language modules; German and Swedish. The overseas registration fee for DOCMaker is $30 US, and the language modules are $25 US each, so your total registration fee requirement will be $80 US.
