

The rear-panel HDI-45 connector uses motherboard DRAM to support video.

The AV Card comes with 2MB of VRAM and is non-upgradeable. Pixel and viewable color numbers are for graphics only. When video is enabled, VRAM is split evenly between graphics and video.