Temporary "place-holder" file. This file may be deleted once product installation has been completed.